A photograph of a man with a beard and short hair, wearing a grey hoodie, holding a young boy. The boy is laughing heartily, showing his teeth. He is wearing a dark blue long-sleeved shirt with a dinosaur pattern and a matching blue turtleneck. The background is a blue fabric structure, possibly part of a play area.

“I cried with happiness when my 3 year old son laughed for the first time!”

Help us build for better and create a home for Gympanzees – a permanent play, exercise and social facility that will have everything under one roof to support the health and well-being of 1,000s of children and young people with disabilities and their families every year.
