

Gympanzees eSafety Policy.

Background.

Recent advances of the internet, mobile phones and other electronic technology has made access to information and communication increasingly easy for everyone.

Safe CIC's research with 200 young people aged 10-13 years showed that 98% of young people can access the internet at home and that, in addition to research for homework, the majority use social networking sites like Facebook and TicTok etc, along with playing games and downloading music and videos.

Many parents and carers struggle to get to grips with the concept and scope of electronic communication, especially the internet; and find the risks their children may face even more difficult to understand.

"All agencies providing services to children have a duty to understand eSafety issues, recognising their role in helping children stay safe online while also supporting adults who care for children" (Safeguarding Children in a Digital World)

What are eSafety risks?

Children and young people with disabilities, as well as adults at risk and their parents/carers, spend more time than others on digital platforms as a consequence of their social isolation. This therefore increases their eSafety risks.

Children/young people with learning difficulties have an increased vulnerability from their different social understanding which potentially makes them more likely to engage in 'risky' behaviours by failing to recognize dangerous scenarios.

Children are more likely to be bullied when they are vulnerable or different in some way. Research suggests that children with disabilities are three times more likely than their peers to be bullied. A survey by Mencap discovered that eight out of ten children with a learning disability have been bullied.

Safe CIC's research of 200 young people found there had been:

- One death threat which had been dealt with by police
- Two cases of serious bullying where a girl's identity had been misused maliciously
- Adults who have had adverse comments posted on the internet by young people
- Twenty children who had met a new internet 'friend' for real, without telling anyone where they were going, nor taking anyone with them
- Ten of those new 'friends' did not look like the children thought they would.

- Other risks may be:
- Accessing age inappropriate, violent, sexual, suicide, anorexia, or illegal websites
- Receiving unwanted or upsetting text or email messages or images
- Being groomed by an adult with a view to meeting a young person for their own illegal purposes including sex, drugs or crime
- Viewing or receiving socially unacceptable material such as inciting hatred or violence
- Children and young people ignoring copyright law by downloading music, videos or even homework cheat material
- A child or young person sending bullying messages or posting malicious details about others
- Children or young people sharing explicit text messages or photos with other children and young people this is known as 'Sexting'

Minimizing Risks.

In order to minimize the risks of misuse of electronic media while at Gympanzees all staff / volunteers will agree and sign up to our eSafety Code of Conduct:

1. use the internet and other forms of communication in a sensible and polite way.
2. only access websites, send messages or access and use other resources that will not hurt or upset anybody.
3. Gympanzees IT equipment will not be in an isolated place.
4. only use personal information or take photographs of other people in exceptional circumstances after discussion and permission from the eSafety lead/deputy, adhering to both of the Film & Photography and Confidentiality policies.
5. report any concerns to the Lead or Deputies for eSafety immediately.
6. be clear that we cannot maintain confidentiality if there is a concern about the welfare of a child, young person or adult at risk.

Gympanzees staff /volunteers will also be aware of the steps that families /carers can take to minimize the risk of the child/young adult/adult at risk coming to harm through electronic communications:

- Talk to your children about what they are using, ask them to show you how everything works so you understand as well
- Encourage your child to leave their mobile or tablet, etc. on charge in a family area when they go to bed
- Discuss the risks of giving out personal details online and look at the privacy settings on your child's online accounts
- Talk about how people can be anyone they want to be online: by using misleading email addresses, photos of other people, telling lies about their age, school and hobbies
- Encourage your child to think carefully about the photographs and videos they put online. They can be used and tampered with by other people, or they may not be appropriate
- Advise them to only text, chat or webcam with people they know in real life
- Learn together how to identify spam messages and how to delete them. This also applies to messages from people they do not know.
- Discuss how people hide their identities online and the importance of never meeting new online 'friends' for real

- Make sure your children understand they can always talk to you about anything that makes them feel uncomfortable
- Look on the internet together for the information about how to deal with or report a problem
- Use a general family email address without the child's specific name
- Talk about how, when information or images get on the internet, they can never be erased

The Law - Criminal Offences involving modern technology:

1. Indecent images of children: Allowing them to be taken, possessed or distributed is a criminal act – includes those of sexting by the child. Causing a child under 16 to watch a sexual act is illegal.
2. Offensive/ harmful messages: Sending grossly offensive or indecent messages that cause persistent annoyance inconvenience or anxiety is illegal. It is the sending not the impact that is illegal.
3. Trolling/Cyberbullying: Posting obscene, defamatory or upsetting comments, messages or information (often anonymous) that cause distress to the victim or their family.
4. Harassment: any activity that upsets others due to their protected characteristics.
5. Grooming: an offence under the Sexual Offences Act 2003 if:
 - a. the offender has either met or communicated with the child on 2 previous occasions, and;
 - b. the offender must then either have met the child or travelled with the intention of meeting the child, and;
 - c. at the time the offender had the intention of committing a relevant sexual offence.
6. Abuse of Position of Trust: when a person engages in sexual activity with any person under 18 with whom they are in a Position of Trust e.g. youth worker, social care etc
7. Hacking: gaining IT access without permission to cause damage or fraud.
8. Misuse of data: copying data, information, written works without the owner's permission.
9. Copying music, movies or software: it is an offence to copy and distribute without the copyright holder's permission.
10. Identity Fraud: pretending to be someone else or misuse of personal information. Financial fraud.
11. Trafficking: children who are bought and sold worldwide for any exploitation.

The Online Safety Act 2023 <https://www.safecic.co.uk/online-safety-act> placed the responsibility on Social Media providers to clear any of the above from their platforms. All platforms are now regulated by Ofcom but all complaints from users must be made to the platforms themselves.

<https://www.ofcom.org.uk/online-safety/advice-for-consumers/support>

Ofcom will monitor the number of complaints and their outcome and can fine, take criminal action and remove revenue streams from non-complaint sites.

Behaviours that might cause concern.

A child, young person or adult at risk who:

- is becoming secretive about where they are going to or who they are meeting.
- will not let you see what they are accessing online.
- is using a webcam in a closed area, away from other people.

- is accessing the web or using a mobile for long periods and at all hours
- clears the computer history every time they use it.
- receives unexpected money or gifts from people you don't know.
- does not appear to have the money they should have.
- A person who:
 - befriends a child, young person or adult at risk on the internet or by text messaging.
 - has links to unrelated children, young people and/or adults at risk on their social media pages especially if they work in a position of trust such as a sports coach or care worker.
- is secretive about what they are doing and who they are meeting.

What to do if concerned.

If you have any concerns, speak to the Lead or Deputies for Safeguarding immediately.

Remember:

- do not delay.
- do not investigate.
- seek advice from the Lead or Deputies
- make careful recording of anything you observe or are told

If the concern is about:

- a child being in imminent danger, ALWAYS DIAL 999 FOR THE POLICE.
- the welfare of a child, they will ring the local children's social care services.
- The welfare of an adult at risk, they will call the Local Safeguarding Adult Board.
- a known person's sexual behaviour or intentions, ring the local police Tel:101
- a person who has a "duty of care" towards children, young people or adults at risk in the organisation, ring the LADO.
- an unknown person's sexual behaviour or intentions, report it to www.ceop.police.uk/safe-centre (Child Exploitation and Online Protection Centre)
- harmful content, including child sexual abuse images or incitement to racial hatred content contact: www.iwf.org.uk

Summary.

In order to implement this eSafety policy our staff and volunteers will:

- have an understanding of these issues
- make sure children, young people and adults at risk understand they can always talk to us, or their parents and/or carers, about anything that makes them feel uncomfortable.
